Each course consists of two parts: business practice and farming practice. Students are equipped with relevant knowledge about agri-business and industry standards, and gain hands-on best practice experience and know-how for successful, sustainable farming.

Who can apply?

Emerging farmers who are SA citizens, involved in farming practice in the Western Cape and who have access to land – whether their own or leased.

Email kaacademy@kaapagri.co.za for an application form. Deadline for the submission of applications: 31 January 2020.

Established in 2009, the Kaap Agri Academy offers high quality training programmes to emerging farmers and farm-workers. More than 300 emerging farmers have been trained so far, many of whom now run large, successful commercial operations and contribute to employment in the sector.
