

KEIMOES AGRIMARK CARE & GROW PROJECT FOCUSES ON SCHOOL

Steven Cronje, manager of the Keimoes Agrimark, reported that they chose the Keimoes Primary School for their social responsibility project.

The dilapidated play area and equipment were completely refurbished and then painted in bright blue, yellow and red colours. The sand-pit was also filled, and the whole area was made safer.

According to Steven, parents and teachers can now have peace of mind, knowing that the children will be safe in the play area, and that they can enjoy themselves thoroughly.

The project was a huge success and the smiling faces of the children using the play area tells the whole story.

TULBAGH AGRIMARK SUPPORTS AIDS AWARENESS

The Tulbagh Clinic decided to launch an Aids awareness campaign towards the end of last year. Pamphlets and condoms were handed out, and volunteers who were prepared to do an aids test, received a free cooldrink. On the day of the campaign, 150 aids tests were done, which was regarded as very successful by Sister Leandri Apollos, who initiated the project.

John Gilmore and his team from the Tulbagh Agrimark decided to become involved with this project by donating the cooldrinks.

The Tulbagh Clinic does excellent work in the community. The personnel consists of four sisters and two nurses, and they consult with about 5,000 patients every month. 🌱
