

Clanwilliam Agrimark Contributes Towards Christmas Project

The children waiting to receive their Christmas gifts.

Badisa is a non-profit organisation, well known for their social service projects.

They have to rely on donations from the community to render additional services which fall outside of their agreement with the Department of Social Services.

Four years ago, Badisa in Clanwilliam started an initiative in conjunction with community volunteers to arrange a Christmas party for the less privileged children in the community.

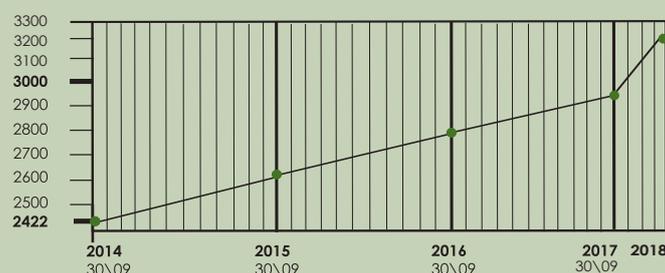

Since its inception, the program has been very successful and a large number of children have already benefitted from this great idea.

As part of the event last year, it was decided to include lunch and dessert when handing over the gifts.

Jaco Louw and his team from Clanwilliam Agrimark donated chicken, bread rolls and ice cream for the event, and Jaco and Freddie Lourens were also responsible for arranging a barbeque. After the event, Badisa wrote a special note of thanks to Jaco, thanking him and his team for their willingness to walk the extra mile.

Support for Chicago Fire Victims

Beneficiaries with some of the donated goods

One of Kaap Agri's employees lost all their belongings during the fire disaster that happened in December 2017 in Chicago, Paarl.

Nic Fleur took it upon himself to offer some assistance. He asked the rest of the staff members to contribute clothing, canned food and other necessities to assist the families affected.

The fire left 40 families without shelter, and they were given temporary living quarters at the local Town Hall

The disaster area

by the local government.

When Nic paid a visit to the area, he was greeted by a somber sight. The good news was that the government had already started rebuilding many of the wendy houses.

To make these houses habitable again, Nic managed to acquire six mattresses from Agrimark managers, a R500 voucher from Simondium Agrimark, ample food and clothing and a corporate contribution towards a fridge and a microwave oven, through the assistance Stefan Strauss.

A disaster like this, just before Christmas, is devastating to anyone. Nic and the Kaap Agri contributors' considerate efforts and donations had a huge impact on the community. Caring for others is what "mense-mense" is all about.

Patensie Agrimark and OK Touch the Hearts of Young Ones

Linda and Johan Ferreira with the children

Riaan Marais, Manager of the Patensie Agrimark, reported that a group of less privileged children attending the Patensie Primary School were filled with joy when they each received a Christmas gift along with their school reports.

Linda Ferreira from Patensie Agrimark and Johan Ferreira from Patensie OK handed over the gifts to the children.

Riaan said that the smiles on the faces of the children made him proud of the fact that they could make a difference to their Christmas. 🍀
